Cemetery Walks: Research, Beauty & Art

A visit to the cemetery is one of the many areas of genealogy you will experience. The workshop will cover the areas of research, beauty & art, including: tips to remember when conducting on-site cemetery research and beauty & art, which may be a new way to view a cemetery. Gale will share from her personal photo collection and home library.

Genealogy Research: Tips & Sharing

Sometimes the best research tips are ones we already know and need to revisit and review. We will take a look at 5 from the publication 101 Best Genealogy Research Tips and discuss ways to share our research and documents.

Workshop presenter:

Gale Stafford-Wall has been researching the history of her family since 1999. Her research is centered in the states of Alabama, Georgia and Florida. She has learned a lot along the way, thanks to many helpful people sharing from their own experiences, and likes to pay it forward. She is an active member of the Reno County Genealogical Society as a board member, quarterly editor and web coordinator. She is also a county coordinator in Alabama for the USGenWeb. Her favorite part of genealogy is cemetery research and she shares interesting stones and stories on her blog digitalcemeterywalk.blogspot.com. Gale also serves as managing editor for the online journal of the Association of Graveyard Rabbits.

Feel free to bring any genealogical "works in progress" to share with others.

Lunch will be available for a donation.
